

Title: Batteries in New Zealand containers

Generated on: 2026-02-09 15:28:30

Copyright (C) 2026 B&K BESS. All rights reserved.

-----

Shipping lithium batteries can be complicated, but FedEx provides all the information you need to ship batteries safely to and from New Zealand.

There are restrictions as to how many lithium-ion batteries can be sent within separate containers by air. Only a maximum of four can be sent, with two per container, and ...

The same as normal dangerous goods, loading any batteries into a shipping container means that the whole container is then considered dangerous, and the charges increase substantially as a ...

Some batteries are classed as dangerous or hazardous goods and under the New Zealand Land Transport Rule: Dangerous Goods 2005 there are special requirements for shipping them via ...

Website: <https://bktrucking.pl>

