Why is Mozambique a major energy exporter?

Mozambique is a net exporter of energy to countries in the Southern African Power Pool (SAPP) - South Africa being the largest importer. The government view energy exports as a key driver of the Mozambican economy, having passed a new electricity law that simplifies permitting and encourages IPPs activities.

What natural gas reserves are in Mozambique?

1.1 Natural Gas Reserves Mozambique is home to some of the largest natural gas reserves in the world, primarily located in the Rovuma Basin. These reserves have the potential to transform Mozambique into a major global player in the energy markets. Initial estimates suggest that the basin holds over 100 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

Does Mozambique have a high energy demand?

Mozambique's domestic energy demand is increasing steadily and is expected to continue rising as the country industrializes. The Southern African Development Community (SADC) member countries are expected to have higher demand for power that could be met with Mozambican exports.

Why is Mozambique's energy sector at a crossroads?

Mozambique's energy sector is poised at a crossroads, rich in resources yet challenged by infrastructural and governance obstacles. The sector is vital for the nation's economic development and social well-being, promising transformative impacts if harnessed effectively.
