

Reverse communication to the base station

Source: <https://bktrucking.pl/Tue-07-Feb-2023-13719.html>

Website: <https://bktrucking.pl>

Title: Reverse communication to the base station

Generated on: 2026-02-28 22:47:59

Copyright (C) 2026 B&K BESS. All rights reserved.

Downlink is the communication link from the base station to the phone. In CDMA networks, the downlink is called a forward channel, ...

Backhaul Connection: The backhaul connection links the base station to the core network in the mobile communication system. It ...

The channels used for voice transmission from the base station to mobiles are called forward voice channels (FVC) and the channels used for voice transmission from mobiles to the base ...

For the IS-95 air interface, the convention is: Forward link: the link from the base station to the handset. Reverse link: the link from the handset to the base station. A CDMA system is based ...

Website: <https://bktrucking.pl>

